

U.S. CALLS ON CARRANZA TO PUNISH BANDITS WHO EXECUTED 17 AMERICANS

UPROAR IN CONGRESS

Senator Sherman Introduces Resolution Proposing Intervention by Pan-American Nations—Attack Willson Policy.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Secretary Lansing today telegraphed General Carranza calling for the prompt punishment of bandits who executed American citizens near Chihuahua on Monday. Through the American ambassador here, it was arranged to bring the bodies from Chihuahua to Juárez on a special train.

President Wilson was in communication with Secretaries Harrison and Lansing and soon issued instructions to send to the White House all facts as rapidly as they were received.

The White House it was declared, while something undoubtedly would be done, what steps the government will take have not been decided.

Look to Gen. Carranza.

Secretary Lansing's only announcement on the subject was that the United States would look to General Carranza for satisfaction. Action by the United States will depend upon development of the facts.

State department officials referred to the fact that Americans had been killed since the United States decided to recognize Carranza to have the states of Sonora and Chihuahua regarded as vital strongholds. They said that in the past official warning more than six hundred Americans still remained in the district, including two hundred Mexicans at Casas Grandes.

German for Intervention.

As soon as the senate assembled, Senator Sherman, republican, introduced a resolution proposing intervention in Mexico by the United States and the Pan-American nations which have acted with in Mexican affairs, unless General Carranza compels with a demand to protect foreign lives and property.

Administration senators objected they were shocked over the killing of Americans, but were declined to discuss the matter until official reports from the committee had been received.

"It appeared the slaughter of American citizens was the deed of bandits," said Senator Stone. "What can be done, I do not know. I think members of congress should get all the facts regarding this event before discussing it."

Senator Thomas, democrat, of Colorado, charged during the Mexican debate in the senate today that the Standard Oil company on one hand, and the Pearson Oil syndicate on the other, were responsible for the revolution in that country and had "covered it with a sea of blood."

When the house met, a storm broke there. Representative Dyer of Missouri presented a resolution asking the president to inform congress if he did not think the time had arrived to abandon the "watchful waiting" policy and invade Mexico, and to submit to the house the fullest details regarding dealings of this government with Carranza. Other members plan to bring the subject before the house during the day. Defense of the administration's Mexican policy, as well as attacks upon it, were promised.

Landing Issues Statement.

Senator Lansing issued a statement in which he said the state department "feels that it took a very possible precaution to prevent Americans from entering their lives in the region where guerrilla warfare is in progress" and that "it is to be deplored that its advice was not followed."

"Every step will be taken to see that the great majority of American citizens are apprehended and punished," he said.

Official dispatches today from Chihuahua, Mexico, to the state department say that the bodies of seven American citizens shot by Villa bandits, arrived at that city last night.

Company Recovers Report.

New York, Jan. 12.—None of the American killed were captured by the American Snuffing and Refining company, according to a message received today by an official of that company from C. L. Baker, general manager of the company's smelter at El Paso, Texas.

Fifteen Americans robbed, stripped and killed. None of our employees concerned. Men involved were employed by Cusi Mining company, which is now held by a bandit named Arguedo, said to be a Villa lieutenant.

LEIGHENY RIVER THREATENS FLOOD

With Water Rapidly Rising Conditions Take a Serious Prospect.

Weston, W. Va., Jan. 12.—With flood waters six feet deep and with the Allegheny river, since yesterday morning, rising at the rate of six inches an hour, conditions here today took on a serious aspect. One person is known to have been drowned while scores have been driven from their homes on the west bank. High water is entering the city through four feet of water and all passage of traffic has been held up. The electric plant was forced to close last evening when the rapidly rising waters threatened the machinery out of commission. Second street is submerged to a depth of six feet and basements in the business district are filled with water. East Weston, a suburb, suffered severely, occupants of entire blocks being forced to move to higher ground.

BIDS FOR LIGHTING CONTRACT RECEIVED

LOW PRICES OFFERED

Prices for Complete Standard With Light Unit Between Twenty-Eight and Thirty-Five Dollars.

Fifteen bids for lighting standards and lighting units were opened by the city commission at their meeting Tuesday afternoon, and today a table of the various bids and offers by the companies for the Janesville light contract was given by City Engineer C. V. Kerch for the board of public works and the city commission. Because of the various differences between the bids submitted, a complete and understandable report will have to be made before action is taken.

When the bids were opened, agents for construction companies in number were on hand to hear the bids. One agent had the following to say regarding the Janesville plans: "The specifications call for a lighting system that is the most modern and efficient of any city I know of. The uniform system of single standard lighting will make an improvement here that cannot now be estimated. The bids are now in the bidding offer is the best on the market."

Two bids were received for concrete standards and the other thirteen were for cast iron. The bids were in accordance with the general design as prepared by Engineer Kerch for the city. All ornamental and embellishments are to be prepared by the contractor in a manner to meet the satisfaction of the board of public works. The top of the post must be made to fit the requirements of the light unit.

The light unit, the Janesville system is to be either a novalux type complete with series compensator for operating either a four or six hundred candle power lamp, or the mazzda type, to be equipped with a special light, ventilator and reflector.

The lowest price on the post alone was $16, and this standard was to be concrete. The other concrete bid was $17.50, and the cast iron bid was $17.50. The lowest bid for a superior post in several ways. The lowest bid for the cast iron post, which the council will accept, was $17.25, by the Industrial Foundry Co.

The highest price for this type of standard was $23.50. The lowest bid for the lighting standard complete, that is, post and light unit, was furnished by a concrete company at $27.75. Two companies bid $28 per complete post. The prices for the lighting unit alone ranged from ten dollars to $12.92 per light.

The council may order the posts from one company and the light units from another, if a practical saving can be accomplished. The cost of the complete standards, including the post and light unit, will be between $28 and $30 and the bids will be between $18 and $25. Bids and at this price, the approximate cost of the completed system will be four thousand dollars.

After the bidding of the bids, the council adjourned to the city engineer's office to make recommendations. The matter of awarding the contract will first come before the board of public works, and then to the city commission. The bidding of the bids will take about a week's time.

SPECTACLE BATTLE AT HUNGARY TOWN

Semin, Hungary, Jan. 12.—It is not two months since shells were falling in this Hungary town. The civilian population has already settled back into the humdrum routine of normal city life. Some soldiers are still in the city, and an occasional colored soldier is marching through the streets, but apart from this there are only some destroyed houses in the southeastern section of the town and a few houses scarred by shrapnel bullets. The scene is a picture of a stirring scene of the early October days.

Perhaps never in the world's history has so splendid a spectacle been staged free of charge for civilian spectators as was the taking of Belgrade. From their house-tops the inhabitants of Semlin could see every move in the desperate undertaking. The broad river lay in front of them, and on either side, perched some two hundred feet above the river rose the Kalemegdan, the old Belgrade fortress with its walls and its walls dating from the time when the Turks were still masters of the city.

To their left and behind them were the Austro-Hungarian artillery positions, and off to the right the German guns were aimed at the Serbian capital. The Austro-Hungarian regiments crossed the river in plain view for the naked eye, and a half-way good glass enabled one to watch the German gunners toward the west, making their bloody struggle to cross over the Gypsy Island. The inhabitants could see thinned battalions of Hungarians, in the Belgrade side of the stream, held in check by a murderous rifle and machine gun fire from the old walls of the Kalemegdan. The Hungarians were dropping their shells into Semlin and to the rear of the city, trying vainly to find the guns that were gradually battering down the defenses of the Serbian capital.

Finally, last scene in the first act of the tragedy, the inhabitants could see the German, Austrian and Hungarian flags thrust out through the apertures in the top of the hill upon which the fortress stood. The hill was destroyed, and the morning of October 9, when the united troops reached the tower and a German soldier carved his name into a beam in the tower, with the date and hour, and added the title of the old Lutheran hymn, "Nun danket alle Gott!" (Now Praise Ye All Our God!).

Not until after the fighting had passed beyond the crest of the hill, mounted northward of Belgrade, was the curtain rung down this awful entertainment.

GERMANS PROCLAIM FORMER KING'S SON NEW SERBIAN RULER

Illegitimate Son of King Milan Placed Upon Throne by Austrian Authorities London Hears.

London, Jan. 12.—The Rome correspondent of the Star says that the illegitimate son of the late King Milan of Serbia, has been proclaimed King of Serbia at Belgrade by Austrian and German authorities. He has been residing in Vienna.

King Milan was ruler of Serbia from 1882 to 1898. His only legitimate son as given in the Almanach de Gotha, was Alexander, who was assassinated in 1903. Alexander was succeeded by King Peter. The only available record of irregular offspring of King Milan is a cable dispatch of two years ago, concerning Milenka Christichitch, described as an illegitimate son of King Milan, who was said to have become involved in financial difficulties in Bohemia.

ANOTHER EXPLOSION IN DUPONT FACTORY

Fifth Blast Within Two Days in Same Company's Plants Occurred Tuesday at Wilmington.

Wilmington, Del., Jan. 12.—The fifth explosion in two days in Dupont Powder company plants occurred last night at the factory yards of the company on the outskirts of Wilmington. A small wheel mill blew up with the loss of about a ton of explosives. No loss of life occurred as no workers were at the shed or its vicinity. The fourth explosion occurred early yesterday morning at the smokeless works at Tarney's Point, N. J., across the Delaware river from here. Three tons of explosives were consumed in the blast but none was injured. Sunday night three men lost their lives at Tarney's Point in an explosion.

Officials of the Dupont company are not suspicious, they say, and do not attribute the cases to other than natural causes, although the definite causes are not known.

NO MORE ELECTIONS IN MILITARY BODY

Appointments Hereafter Will Be Made for the Wisconsin Guards.

Appleton, Jan. 12.—There will be no more elections of officers in the Wisconsin guards. The adjutant general has issued orders that in the future candidates for second lieutenant must be recommended by the company commander. The same order was issued a radical change in examination. The physical examination is more rigid, while the mental test is to be written instead of oral. The members will be gone over by board of three officers at Madison, one of whom is to be an army officer. Failure to get a mark of 75 per cent disqualifies the candidate.

BOARD TABLES PLAN FOR COUNTY EXPERT

POSTPONES ACTION INDEFINITELY THIS MORNING—CHAIRMAN OF TOWNS OPPOSE IDEA.

COMMISSION IS NAMED

Supervisors Name Committee of Three as Highway Body to Work With C. E. Moore.

TOWN CHAIRMAN FINDS LITTLE INTEREST FOR COUNTY FARM AGENT

H. B. Moseley, Board chairman, town of Beloit, covered my town. But four were in favor of the county agricultural agent.

John L. Lynch, Avon—I canvassed my town two or three times; found one farmer in favor of agent. All are opposed to proposition.

Ed. Overton, La Prairie—The town of La Prairie does not want the agricultural agent.

T. A. Steele, Union—My township is split fifty-fifty over the question of the agent. When it comes to a vote.

C. D. McCarthy, Fort—I see no cause to change from the way I voted previously on the question. No farmer in town favors the county farm man.

I found two in favor of the agent and two undecided, but when the matter was put to a vote it was decidedly "no."

Frank Hattem, Spring Valley—Nothing doing out in my neighborhood.

W. P. Marquardt, town of Milton—None in favor of it. And if I really seek to know what I want it should be the farmer himself.

R. E. Poltz, Turtle—Found only one farmer in favor of the thing in my township.

Fred Reifeld, Rock—Didn't find a man out there in favor of it after my canvass.

Rock county's board of supervisors this morning voted to postpone indefinitely action on the matter of the county agricultural expert. Practically as a whole the board was against the idea and not a dissenting voice was heard as the matter was made.

Other routine matters and reports of committees followed the action on the county agent.

Under a recent statute a county highway commission was elected by the board this morning. H. B. Moseley, Beloit, chairman of the board, was selected chairman of the committee, with E. L. Bingham, Harmony, and Fred Reifeld, Rock, as associate members.

This body is created to work in conjunction with Highway Commissioner Charles E. Moore in the upkeep, repair and rebuilding and construction of county highways.

The board began to prepare for the final disposal of the county agricultural expert shortly after opening their meeting at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Routine business was disposed of and on motion that the town chairman, pursuant to instructions at the November meeting, give the views of farmers in their respective townships, read a list of names of the matter might lose by a total when a single vote, the case in November when the question was brought to a vote.

Where will be found the findings of eleven town chairmen. That seemed to be enough, for after the eleventh had expressed his views it was concluded that the matter would be handled in detail tomorrow.

TURKS IN REPRISAL ARREST FRENCHMAN

Athens, Jan. 12.—The American Ambassador at Constantinople, Henry Morgenthau, has advised the American legation here of the arrest of a Frenchman at Constantinople in reprisal for the arrest of the German minister at Athens.

"It is a reprisal," but I never saw the day but what I could always learn more. Of course, if Rock county farmers are such experts on the subject, they can tell me anything new about farming, then we should be congratulated. But I myself, as a business man, was always ready to take and heed advice where I saw that it would benefit me to make more money."

It took the board just that period of time taken to read a letter, hear Chairman Moseley ask what action should be taken, the making of a motion and a vote to refuse to consider the proposition advanced by F. T. Edwards of Fort Atkinson, member of the Jefferson county board, that Rock county enter with Jefferson, Walworth and Waukesha counties in consideration of the purchase of a building and grounds at Palmyra to be used jointly as a county sanitarium for tubercular patients.

Under a new statute such procedure is possible, though not obligatory. Again, a county can appropriate money for its own sanitarium for tubercular cases.

The board did not stop to even consider the necessity of the step of conferring with the committees appointed by the other three counties nor to investigate the need of such an institution, but voted down the matter without any debate whatever.

A petition for reimbursement from the county for the sum of $150.25 for bridge money paid by the town was made by Supervisor Fred Reifeld.

The reports of the poor agents, George Seegmiller and Asa P. Anderson, of the clerk of court, Jesse Earl, the register of deeds, H. W. Smiley, and of the county clerk, Howard W. Lee, were read and referred to respective committees for recommendation.

Supervisor George W. Hull of the license committee gave his report. Ninety-seven permits for the sale and manufacture of liquor were granted during the past year.

Both notices of damages and claims for the same which aggregate $1,470.

RAIDING ZEPPELINS NO LONGER FEARED

Big British Fleet of Aeroplanes Defends London From Invasion by Air Route.

New York, Jan. 12.—Twelve attempted raids on London by Zeppelins during December were repulsed by the British chiefly through a large fleet of aeroplanes, and three of the German raiders were destroyed, captured, according to Dr. W. H. Vincent, of the Colonial medical corps, who arrived today on the American liner Philadelphia.

The real reason why Zeppelins have not been able to bombard London or its suburbs since October 14 last, said Dr. Vincent, is because the British have established an efficient defense against the German air raiders. During December twelve separate attempts were made by Zeppelins to reach London.

"In November there were several other attempts, but in no case were the German raiders able to reach even the outskirts of London."

HEAVY BLOW IS DEALT TO MONTENEGRO

CAPTURE OF MOUNT LOVEN BY AUSTRILIANS MEANS LOSS OF COMMANDING POSITION.

TO MOVE ON CAPITAL

With Cetinje Ten Miles Away, Invaders May Soon Dominate the Country—Italy and Allies Blamed for Inaction.

London, Jan. 12.—The announcement of the occupation of Mount Lovcen in Montenegro although it has not been confined from entente sources, is generally accepted here as true. Unpleasantness which is firmly expressed in Italy is reflected in the English and French newspapers. The loss of Lovcen from the point of view of the allies, is a serious blow to the fact that its summit dominates Cattaro Bay, the Austrian naval base.

Before Italy entered the war, the French established a number of guns on the mountains and had prepared impositions for heavy guns which could have swept the bay. Austria, by seizing it, forestalls this danger and is in a commanding position with regard to Cetinje, the capital of Montenegro, which is a little over six miles distant, although sheltered by intervening mountains.

Criticize Italy's Inaction.

The question is being anxiously raised as to why the entente allies did not long ago send aid to the Montenegrins and in particular why Italy, which is more acutely affected by this Austrian invasion, had not taken preventive measures.

The Austrians are now only ten miles from the capital of Montenegro, calculating the distance over the existing roads and a successful blow at the heart of the country may have the effect, it is said by military critics, of isolating the troops who are defending the northeastern frontier.

NEW GERMAN LEVY AROUSES BELGIUM

Belgians Contemplate Protest to Neutral Countries Against Accessive Demand for Tribute.

Paris, Jan. 12.—The Havre correspondent of the Petit Telegram in a press message today says that Belgium government is preparing to lodge a protest with neutral governments against the new German levy of forty million francs monthly, in addition to the four hundred and eight million franc levy made last year.

The Belgian protest will point out that under the provisions of The Hague treaties, war taxes in occupied territory are limited to meet the needs of the army holding the captured ground, or, in the administration of affairs of the territory held. Belgium says that the tax is far in excess of that amount needed.

Counting the Cash

January is count-up time with the storekeepers.

They take stock of things, balance the books, and try to see whether the figures are on the right side of the ledger.

They like to count up results in cash rather than in goods on the shelf.

RELIGIOUS LEADERS CONFER AT MADISON

Two Days' Meeting of National and State Men To Open On January Twenty-fifth.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 12.—State and national religious leaders will confer here Jan. 24 and 25 with a committee of the Wisconsin Federation of Churches upon the question of establishing a union religious center at the University of Wisconsin. At the same time bringing to bear all the resources of the several denominations through united action.
The federation's committee was appointed at the last annual meeting with authority to canvass the whole religious situation at the university and suggest a course to which all the denominations might subscribe. This committee consists of the Rev. D. W. Hubert, Milwaukee, Baptist; the Rev. T. M. Shepherd, Milwaukee, Congregational; the Rev. R. S. Donaldson, Milwaukee, Presbyterian; the Rev. Perry Miller, Janesville, Methodist. The other conferees will include representatives of the national Y. M. C. A. of the national boards of Christian education, and local and university pastors.

Should it be tried here, it is believed that the religious and social life of the university will doubtless be watched with interest throughout the country.

GUARDING AGAINST THE WAR LOTTERIES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Jan. 12.—Increase in the number of government lotteries abroad as the war drags itself out is causing the United States postal authorities to be especially watchful of mail advertisements in this country. The lotteries are given publicity in the United States in two ways, it is said by the United States Department today. Individual letters are written to American citizens in an effort to induce them to purchase tickets and news stories are circulated of fabulous sums won recently.
Letters soliciting clients, if they fall into the department's hands, never reach their destinations. Some get through the department if on the outside they are not present a suspicious appearance. All the suspected letters are diverted and opened.
With news stories the department does not find it so easy to deal. The solicitor's story of the law, which holds that any news story advertising a lottery must be barred from the mails. Under the department's ruling, this means any story giving publicity to a lottery does not have to be a paid advertisement.
Many news stories of European lotteries have been printed recently, the department says, which approach the story of the law. The department holds that any news story advertising a lottery must be barred from the mails. Under the department's ruling, this means any story giving publicity to a lottery does not have to be a paid advertisement.

FOODS THEY BUILD OR DESTROY

Amazing but rarely suspected truths about the things you eat.

By ALFRED W. McCANN (Copyright, 1916, by Alfred W. McCann.)

CHAPTER 2

The house that we live in is built of selected materials, but the inmates of that house, in building their own tissues, leave everything to chance.

We spend time, energy, money and capacity the skill of architects and designers in building a home. We see to it that the foundation stones are well laid, the bricks and mortar of the best, the beams solid, and strong; the woodwork and plaster without flaw, skillfully joined. We superintend the installation of the boiler and inspect the steam fittings. There must be no guesswork about the gas pipes. The electric wiring must be carefully insulated and protected by proper fuses. All the workers are trained and skillful men. But the work is not done. A city inspector examines the plumbing to see that it is not defective. Thoroughness is the price we pay for durability in house construction, for we know that poor material, shoddy work, mere surface and show, will betray themselves inevitably.

Oh, the pity of the shell house! But even for such a house what careful scrutiny is exercised in selecting rugs, carpets, furniture, and curtains. What intolerance is declared at the discovery of sham velvet, loaded silk, imitation leathers, shoddy fabrics, inferior woodwork, cheap plaster, leaky pipes, and badly fitted windows!

The house that we build to live in, to rear our children in, to call our home, must be an honest house. But the inmates of that house, the mother, the child, what of them? What mysterious building process takes care of them when we ignore the building materials with which exacting nature does her work and of which the exacting skill of man is but a symbol and a shadow?

You solid house, it was not permitted that your parts should be thrown together by chance. It was not fitting that your owner should say, "Let there be a house," leaving all else to a capricious fortune or the hazards of a guess.

You were no blind accident, no whim, caprice, or empty dream, yet you were made to shelter little, living children, ministering women, useful men.

What of that? What of the human framework, the supporting bones, the connecting tissues? What about the human boiler and the human pipes, the internal organs, arteries, and glands? What about the human wires, the nerves, and fibres that carry light to the human brain and convey its orderly messages to the other parts of the human machine? What about the human laboratory where all life's processes are regulated? What about the human chemicals wherever these processes are carried on?

When the house is built the work is done, but the wonderfully organized inmate of that house is constantly wearing and wasting away. Repair is necessary; incessant, never-ending repair.

What about the proper repair materials? Is it not known that they are to be found in food and food alone? Honestly for the sheltering house and sham, fraud, make-believe for its suddenly careless, indifferent, whimsical owner.

No business man tolerates an inefficient unit in his organization. No musician tolerates a jarring note in his symphony. No physician tolerates, knowingly, the presence of incompatibles in his prescriptions; but in twenty million homes throughout the United States to-day there is complacent toleration for food frauds, consumed with smacking lips and smiling eyes, that are cruelly crippling the race.

Perhaps you believe that these are wild words, but I intend to prove every statement here set down so convincingly and so conclusively that not one of them can be challenged successfully.

I have spent many years at this work, but until 1912 made little progress. My public utterances were greeted in high places with lofty sarcasm and swept aside by the authorities as unworthy of consideration.

Then came a long period of dragging the truth into the courts. During the three years dating from January, 1913, to the end of 1915, in municipal, state, and federal courts, I have obtained the conviction of three hundred food frauds who, prior to their prosecution, hid profitably behind the screens prepared by the authorities who denied emphatically that my "unsupported charges" were true. The court records in all these cases, without a single exception having withstood the scrutiny of judge and jury, have finally opened up to my story the independent newspapers of the country, and at last the fruits of a long and strenuous struggle are to be given to the people.

A hundred food frauds constitute the building material upon which "Young America" depends for growth and sustenance under the eyes of the law. Every pound of these food frauds is a pound of excess baggage borne by the growing child, the prospective mother and the invalid.

Every pound of food that has been juggled, changed, denatured, or drugged is balanced by a pound of human flesh. Commercial wizardry attempts to perform the impossible task of supplying the human family with food of a kind that will not support the life of animals, and at the same time maintain indefinitely the dignity of its position.

It parades the signatures of chemists and learned scientists in order perhaps that by the same process of magic these eminent names may supply the missing elements on which life depends.

Vindictive are the ways of Nature, but she will suffer no wilful abuse. Her laws were established by a higher Power, and poor man, who feebly attempts to imitate these laws in his construction of a house or a machine, turns his back, in the presence of a growing child, and forgets that the child also is subject to those laws. (TO BE CONTINUED.)

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND

Mary Miles Minter, Thomas J. Karigan and "Kid" Hogan, a former prize fighter, is the rather combination of "talent" to be seen in "Rose of the Valley," a story of New York's underworld. All three "Kid" has to do is to act natural, as he is cast in the part of a tough pugilist. Dainty Mary Miles Minter, and Mr. Karigan, of course, are the real stars. A fight in an East End dance hall is one of the lively scenes in "Rose of the Valley."

MAE MARSH'S SISTER
Marguerite Marsh, sister of Mae Marsh, plays an important part in "The Price of Power."

Miss Marsh's part is that of a simple young factory girl. The three other woman principals who appear in "The Price of Power" are being played by Gladys Brockwell, Vera Lewis, and Daisy Robinson. The male parts important to the telling of the story are being played by Orrin Johnson, who plays a dual role, Spottiswoode Atkin, Francis J. McDonald and Clyde Hopkins.

NEW FEATURES
EXCELLENT PROGRAM

Hart in "Hell's Hinges," Willard Mack in "The Conqueror," Boris Karloff and Bruce McRae in "The Green Swamp," Mae Marsh in "Hoodoo Ann," Wilfred Lucas and Mary Alden in "Acquitted," Norma Talmadge and Seena Owen in "Mata Hari," Sam Bernard in "The Great Pearl Triangle," Chester Conklin in "Dizzy Heights and Darling Hearts." These are only a few of a long list of thirty or forty plays that might be named.

Marie Doro, whose marriage to Elliott Dexter has recently become public, has returned to New York from Los Angeles, accompanied by her husband. She will begin work at once on a film adaptation of Sardou's "Diplomacy."

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG AS COUNTRY LASS

The picture at the Majestic Theater last night took you down into the wild picturesque mountains of Virginia along with winsome Clara Kimball Young, and wrapped you up in a simple little country romance of appealing nature. In "The Heart of the Blue Ridge" Miss Kimball surely did not lose any of her attractiveness for she played the part of a pretty country belle, attired in her plain gingham dress with as much grace as if she had lived in the rugged Virginia Mountains all her life. The plot of the picture is fascinating and touching, the beauty of the southern mountains beautiful and the acting superb, tell to you in all the features of the Majestic program.

AT THE APOLLO.

Dainty and fascinating Marguerite Clark will be seen tonight at the Apollo in "Still Waters," an original play written for Miss Clark.

In "Still Waters," Miss Clark has an opportunity of supplementing her well-established reputation as an incomparable ingenue by the greatest display of dramatic power which she has yet contributed to the screen. When the story opens, Miss Clark is a delightful little girl living on a canal boat with a stern old grandfather who forbids her to have anything to do with the outside world. Fretting under the restraint, she skips away from the boat and meets a young doctor—the first man that she has really been brought into contact with. The result is inevitable.

Then a circus comes to the town, alongside of which the canal boat is moored. Carried away by the glamor of the show and angered by the apparent duplicity of her lover and by the very patent boorishness of her grandfather, the little girl runs away and joins the circus. Her delightful little romance comes to a sudden end, and she finds herself the object of the ringmaster's ill-conceived attentions.

Trapped by the ring-master in the lonely cabin of the deserted canal boat, to which she has fled from him, Nest—for that is the character which Miss Clark plays—is on the verge of despair when the doctor who has been searching for her, arrives in time to save her.

That is the bare outline of the plot which abounds in delightful romance, quaint comedy, the unexpected atmosphere of the great inland waterway, the very fascinating circus ring and the "bitter" and the sudden thrill of the dramatic scenes which follow in rapid succession.

AT THE PRINCESS.

J. Warren Kerrigan in "A Kentucky Idyll."

Lees Point is a small town in the mountains of Kentucky. The original settlers came down the Ohio river in the eighteenth century and wandered overland to the mountains far from civilization. From the same stock that settled the wilds of the Ohio valley and built their log huts up in the Kentucky hills came Abraham Lincoln and other pioneers who blazed the trail in the vanguard of civilization.

The descendants of these original settlers have not changed much. The phonograph and the moving picture have not influenced them to any great extent. The same hot blood courses through their veins and their code, too, goes straight to the heart of things as did that of their fathers before them.

The missionary and his daughter arrive in Lees Point and start on their work of organization. When they succeed in ending the aid of the saloon-keeper their cause is won. The final situations are original. All in all, the picture will please as the plot is one of the most attractive. Jacques Jaccard both wrote and produced it. With J. Warren Kerrigan and Helen Leslie playing the leads, supported by Ethel Phillips, Robert Nyles and T. D. Crittendon.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

Francis X. Bushman and Marguerite Snow on Thursday and Friday.

Francis X. Bushman and Marguerite Snow, who share the stellar honors—Frank Bacon, Helen Dunbar, William Clifford, Catherine Henry and Lester Cuneo, are some of the important people who will be seen in the card of "The Silent Voice," the Quality Pictures Corporation production just released in the Metro program, when it is presented at the Majestic on Thursday and Friday.

"The Silent Voice" is from the pen of Jules Eckert Goodman, and was the vehicle which Otis Skinner used to display his distinguished dramatic talents upon the legitimate stage at the Liberty Theatre in New York last season. In the six act picturization of the original in which Mr. Bushman is featured, now scheduled for presentation here, this noted master of the silent drama appears in a role somewhat different from what many admirers have been accustomed. His powerful portrayal of the loving son, whose happiness affects everyone about him and whose disposition changes abruptly when affliction seizes him, from a light-hearted and joyous person, to a skeptic and cynic, will prove a revelation of his powers to those who have hitherto seen him only in the role of the romantic lover.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Madison, Jan. 12.—The hearing on the question of whether or not freight rates on lumber should be increased, was started today before the railroad rate commission.

The fight against the proposed boost is being led by F. M. Ducker, Oak-Kosh, traffic manager for the Northern Hemlock and Harwood Manufacturers' association.

Lumbermen will attempt to show that the increase would mean an increase in rates of forty cents a cord on fuel wood, now sold at northern points for $1.50, an increase of thirty per cent on the original value of the product.

Besides an increase on rates on fuel wood, lumber and logs, the railroads have asked to do away with the "milling in transit" privilege. Under this privilege raw materials are shipped in from distant points and shipped out again in a finished state at a special commodity rate. Under these provisions, wood-working factories have been located in cities where conditions were favorable as to stable labor conditions, ready market for by-products and the like.

Lumbermen declare that if the "milling in transit" privilege is abolished it will drive all factories to sources of supplies. It is claimed that an increase of one per cent on one hundred pounds on logs would be equal to an increase of three cents on lumber.

Lumbermen declare that the proposed increase would seriously affect the small farmers who have purchased small pieces of cut over land and paid their expenses from the fuel wood which they sold while clearing their farms.

The railroads state that they are now carrying fuel, logs and lumber at a loss.

Something To Write About

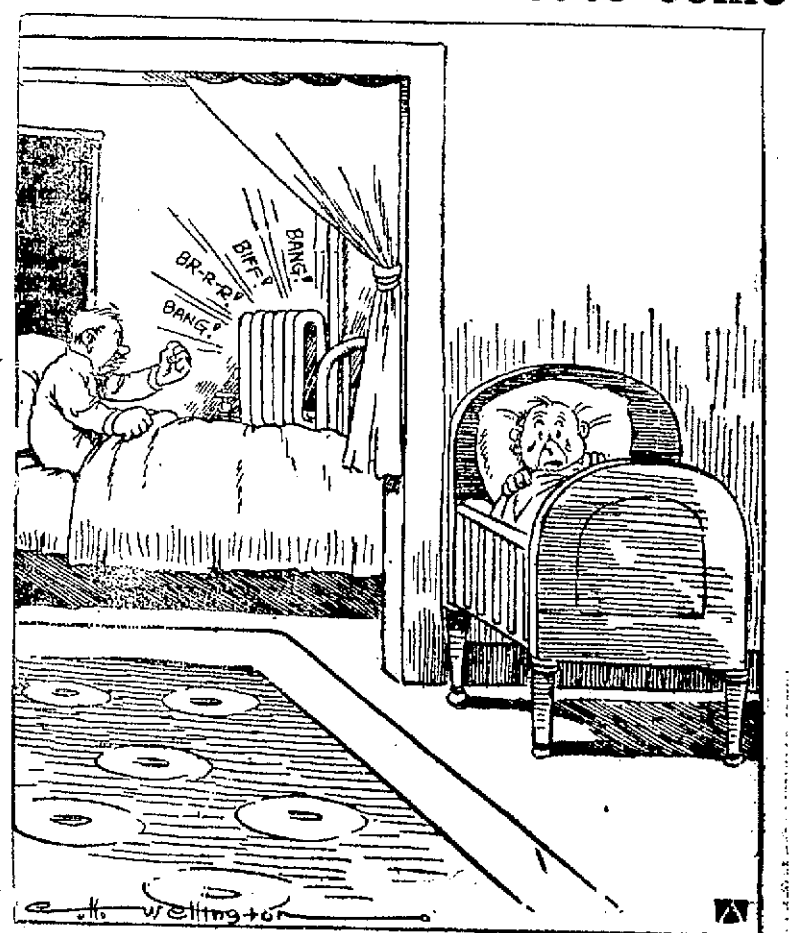

Lost Or Found?

Which is it? Someone was very, very careless, at least that's what the geese thought—and one of them said such a funny thing—"What a duck of a baby," said she; "and what a goose its nurse must be." Whereupon all the rest of them wanted to know just what she meant by such a remark and most of them went home with their heads in the air—and a noise quite like a reception. Well, they talked it over at supper time at all the houses and every one had a different idea on the subject. The baby was so young to say much except "Goo" and "Hee"—never said "quack" once—so Mr. Drake said that proved that it wasn't a duck baby. So then they began all over again. Why didn't it have any feathers on—and where were the webs between its toes—and why did it make such a funny noise? But the question most often heard was—"Where did it come from, and what is going to become of it?"
